Chancellor's Welcome

The scholarships and grants program at UniSA provides assistance to talented students to help them achieve their true potential. The financial support on offer helps alleviate the pressure students face as they juggle their university and other commitments.

These awards provide so much more than financial assistance – they benefit students by rewarding their hard work and dedication, boosting their motivation and self-confidence and enhancing their employability through work experience programs and international study opportunities.

I wish to acknowledge our wonderful donors and supporters for their valuable assistance that enables the extension of programs and services across the University. Your support underpins our goals around not only scholarship, but participation, equity and diversity.

Thanks to your generosity, we have been able to support disadvantaged students as well as students with high academic potential, by helping to ease the financial load while they are studying so they can focus on what is important.

Congratulations to all the award recipients recognised in this booklet and thank you to our donors who make it possible for our students to reach further and aspire to be greater, and for that we are truly grateful.

Ms Pauline Carr
Chancellor
University of South Australia

Vice Chancellor's Welcome

There are many parts to a modern university, but at the University of South Australia two things underpin everything we do – a commitment to excellence and a determination to give everyone the very best chance to reach their potential.

There is no better example of this than our scholarships and grants program, which offers help to students with exceptional ability who through an array of cultural, geographical and socio-economic circumstances might otherwise not have the opportunity to go to university.

That help takes many forms. It is often financial, of course, but there is also much to be gained from offering the opportunity to gain work experience, to travel, to make connections, or simply to find a mentor who can guide, advise and assist as a person finds his or her own path in life.

To make this possible, I am deeply indebted to our academic and professional staff, to the friends of the University who give of their time, and in particular to a dedicated group of corporate and private donors who share our vision. Your support has never been more appreciated than in the current challenging times for our students.

For all of us the reward is the same – seeing the students we've helped go on to take their professional places in society and make a real difference to their communities. I hope you will enjoy reading this booklet that celebrates the gift that philanthropy gives us all.

Professor David G. Lloyd

Vice Chancellor and President

Finn Family Refugee Study Grant

The Finn Family Refugee Study Grant has been kindly provided by the Finn Family.

The grant was offered for the first time in 2018 and is awarded to a student from a refugee background who is commencing study with the University of South Australia. The grant is available to students enrolled in a UniSA College program or an undergraduate degree and is designed to assist recipients meet study costs including textbooks, travel, computing equipment or other related expenses.

The Finn Family have led the way for others to follow and support students from a refugee background who aspire to a university education as a pathway to career success and financial stability.

“We are very proud to play a part in enabling a student from a refugee background to attend UniSA in the hope that they will be able to benefit in the same way that we have from the transformational experience provided by tertiary education.”

Terri and Paul Finn

Refugee Student Grant

Building the University of South Australia's support for refugee students is a key priority with a focus on increasing the financial and practical support that is available to refugee students. UniSA is fortunate to have a passionate and loyal group of donors that share the University's goal of facilitating access to tertiary study and retention through to graduation.

The Refugee Student Grant was offered for the first time in 2020 and is funded by an anonymous donor.

Many refugees have witnessed or experienced conflict and trauma; they often struggle financially and have wider family commitments both here and in their home countries; and English is their second language, so settling in their new life in Australia can be challenging.

The Refugee Student Grant has been designed to assist recipients with their living and/or education expenses – to relieve some of the cultural, political and economic pressures of adjusting to being both a recent arrival and university student.

Sarre Family Refugee Grant

The Sarre Family Refugee Grant provides encouragement and support for an undergraduate female student from a refugee background who has demonstrated leadership skills.

Rick, and his wife Debra have supported student scholarships at UniSA for several years and established the refugee grant out of deep concern for the rights and welfare of refugees.

Emeritus Professor Rick Sarre was previously Dean at the University of South Australia's Law School and is currently an Adjunct with UniSA Justice and Society. Before retiring he taught commercial law, media law, sports law and criminology for 35 years in four countries, the USA, Sweden, Hong Kong and Australia. He was a member of the University of South Australia Council 2011-2016, serving as Chair of Academic Board for the same period.

“The national anthem includes the words ‘For those who come across the seas we’ve boundless plains to share.’ While that sentiment has been politically fraught in recent times, what is not in question is the commitment of our educators to ensure that our student body will continue to celebrate its multiculturalism. We are delighted to be part of that endeavour by sharing the abundant riches that living in Australia brings.”

Emeritus Professor Rick Sarre

Anya Attenborough Memorial Grant

The Anya Attenborough Memorial Grant is awarded to a female student enrolled in the second year of the Bachelor of Social Work or Bachelor of Social Work (Honours).

Anya's parents established the grant in remembrance of their daughter, a UniSA Bachelor of Social Work student who passed away in 2017.

Offered for the first time in 2018, the grant rewards a female student for performance in the first year of their program and inspires them to complete their degree.

“We established this grant to support a young, single parent, experiencing some of the difficulties that our dear daughter had to overcome before her untimely passing”

Don and Ruth Pollock

The late Anya Attenborough

Anthony and Robin Radford Family Student Grant

The Anthony and Robin Radford Family Student Grant is awarded to an undergraduate student from a refugee background, studying full time within Clinical and Health Sciences or Allied Health and Human Performances.

Emeritus Professor Anthony Radford AM, was inspired to work in Papua New Guinea (PNG) where he was the only doctor for up to 50,000 people and implemented courses in rural medicine and development in the Department of Health and later at the University of PNG. His career continued in international, and public health and general practice as teacher and consultant at the Liverpool School of Tropical Medicine, as Foundation Professor of Primary Care and Community Medicine at Flinders University, and as a consultant in international health for WHO and other organizations

His wife Robin was involved in social work, community development and original research in local history. Anthony's career spanned 5 continents and 45 countries and included refugee settlements to support those at risk in the world.

Established in 2021, the first student will be awarded this year.

Tedmanson-Pieters Family Refugee Grant

The Tedmanson-Pieters Family Refugee Grant was established in 2020 and provides financial relief to help female students prepare for university as well as adjust to a new culture, customs and language.

Associate Professor Deirdre Tedmanson is currently Dean of Programs (UniSA Justice and Society) and is an experienced Director of Academic Programs with a long career at senior levels in the higher education industry.

There are currently around 300 students on Permanent Humanitarian Visas enrolled at UniSA across all program levels, including about 50 enrolled in enabling or diploma level programs at UniSA College. There are also a significant number of students from a refugee background who are permanent residents of Australia who must pay their course tuition fees up front.

Associate Professor Tedmanson and her family were motivated to start a scholarship from a deeply held belief that tertiary education is a fundamental right and the pathway to future opportunities for refugees.

“I passionately believe, as academics we have a unique privilege, a special opportunity and a gentle but constant duty to ourselves and to each other to pursue excellence, fun and social justice in all areas of our scholarship!”

Associate Professor Deirdre Tedmanson

Previous grant recipient, Go Pau

UniSA College Refugee Advancement Grant

The UniSA College Refugee Advancement Grant is awarded to a student from a refugee background studying at UniSA College to enable their goal of progressing to an undergraduate degree at UniSA.

The grant has been funded through workplace giving contributions from several staff from UniSA's Advancement Services Unit. The Advancement Services team have firsthand knowledge of the power of scholarships and the positive impact this support can have for disadvantaged students.

Staff members were motivated to pool resources and donate to this cause in recognition of the challenges faced by refugee students in obtaining a university qualification, and to honour the contributions that refugees make to the cultural, economic and community life of South Australia.

“Through our work we have the privilege of meeting many students with a refugee background and our team is constantly inspired by their courage, passion and commitment to achieving their goals and contributing to the Australian community. We are thrilled to support such a worthy cause.”

Advancement Services team member

Barefoot to Boots Refugee Grant

UniSA Council member, businessman, corporate advisor and former journalist, Ian Smith AM, established the Barefoot to Boots Refugee Grant in 2020 to provide encouragement and support to talented, financially constrained students from a refugee background as they embark on their university studies.

Ian is deeply involved in refugee advocacy, chairing the Barefoot to Boots charity and travelling regularly to camps in Africa and the Middle East.

Barefoot to Boots is an Australian-based private sector NGO that supports refugees living in camps and their neighbouring host communities. It was founded by two brothers and former South Sudanese refugees, professional footballer Awer Mabil and Awer Bul.

Among many roles, Ian is the UK's Honorary Consul to South Australia, a Director of Adelaide United Football Club and Chair of its advisory board and Deputy Chair of the Prince's Trust Australia. He became a Member of the Order of Australia (AM) in the 2018 Queen's Birthday Honours.

“Working with refugees over many years prompted me to help in this small way, assisting some of those who have come to live in South Australia under the humanitarian programs to complete their degrees at UniSA. I’m also very proud of how the University is increasing its engagement with refugee communities and look forward to us all doing more of this work in the future.”

Ian R Smith AM

King Family Refugee Support Grant

The King Family Refugee Support Grant was established in 2020 by UniSA staff member Professor Sharron King and her family.

The grant is open to a UniSA undergraduate student from a refugee background who is a Permanent Resident of Australia or holds a Permanent Humanitarian Visa.

The grant recognises the many cultural, political and economic factors that affect the ability of refugees to access and continue tertiary education in Australia.

Support to students is intended to assist recipients with their daily living expenses and expenses directly associated to their education.

“After working and teaching at UniSA for many years I saw how difficult it can be for students from a refugee background to continue with their studies when they often have to work to support themselves and their families. As a family we wanted to provide a grant that will help to alleviate some of these financial pressures and allow the recipients to focus on their study.”

Professor Sharron King

Shirley Harper Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Scholarship in Education

Denis Harper, and his wife Janet Callen, established the Shirley Harper Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Scholarship in Education, named after Denis' mother, the late Shirley Harper. Shirley was an early childhood teacher and her family has dedicated this scholarship in honour of her memory and life's work in education.

The scholarship is awarded to a student who identifies as Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander, enrolled in the Bachelor of Education (Early Childhood, Primary or Secondary Streams) and studying full-time.

Previous grant recipient, Christina Thao Lam

Kenneth Anesbury First Year Grant

UniSA staff member Dr Zac Anesbury established the Kenneth Anesbury First Year Grant in 2020 to honour his father who supported and encouraged his son to pursue further study and achieve his academic ambitions and better his life.

Zac is the Inaugural Gerald Goodhardt Postdoctoral Research Fellow, and Senior Marketing Scientist at UniSA's Ehrenberg-Bass Institute, a world-class research institute that delivers real scientific knowledge and dramatic discoveries to corporations all over the world, including Coca-Cola, Unilever, Procter & Gamble and Mars.

The Kenneth Anesbury First Year Grant assists student from the northern

Dr Zac Anesbury

MiskSA Student Support Grant

The MiskSA Student Support Grant has been established by UniSA alumnus and staff member Milan Mili to support domestic and international students facing financial and other hardships while pursuing their dream of attaining a tertiary qualification.

MiskSA is a locally owned and operated photo booth business with a point of difference based on delivering exceptional quality photos and extraordinary customer service. MiskSA's philanthropic initiatives reflect a genuine commitment to act as a responsible and engaged business within the community in which it operates.

Milan knows the struggle of university life and how it can impact students especially those with busy schedules who have to work long hours to pay their University fees. He designed the support grant to provide students with financial assistance while studying to purchase the basics such as textbooks, uniforms, food, transportation, rent and many more things a university student requires.

“My Lebanese grandfather used to tell me: ‘Carrying rocks on your back is easier than carrying letters in your brain’. And that means physical work is easier than intellectual work. I’ve had to go through both when I was a student, but now I would like to help students to be able to focus on the latter.”

Milan Mili

Richard Oertel Memorial Mathematics Grant

The Richard Oertel Memorial Mathematics Grant has been established by Bronwyn Ellis, in honour of her late husband Dr Richard Oertel who lectured in mathematics at UniSA's Whyalla Campus and at Mawson Lakes (formerly The Levels).

In 1975, Richard completed his PhD, where he developed a model for understanding the hydrodynamics experienced by container ships which had a small draft compared with their length. Following this, he worked at the Australian Bureau of Statistics in IT performing programming tasks associated with the processing of census and household survey data.

In 1980, Richard left the ABS to take up a systems job at the University of Adelaide in the Barr Smith Library. The University was developing its own online library systems and was one of the first university libraries to move away from manual processing. He eventually moved to the South Australian Institute of Technology in 1983 in a lectureship position.

Richard was an excellent teacher who was highly regarded by his students and peers in both information technology and mathematics. He finished lecturing in 1996.

The grant is a perpetual award that will recognise and reward talented UniSA mathematics students for many years to come.

Robyn Parkes Undergraduate Nursing Prize

Robyn Parkes' dedication to the nursing profession lives on through her support of UniSA nursing students as a result of a generous bequest made during the last few years of her life. Born in Victoria, Robyn trained as a nurse in Melbourne and completed her midwifery qualifications in Perth. However, most of her long and Robyn's career included many roles which enabled her to contribute to significant change and development within the nursing profession. She worked in roles within the Australian Nursing Federation (SA branch) and as a federal nurse adviser, where she helped bring in numerous changes and developments across state and national health workforce systems.

Nursing education and research were dear to Robyn's heart, and she worked tirelessly to improve and implement new models of learning and workplace development.

We are honoured that Robyn decided to leave a bequest for the benefit of the nursing profession to UniSA.

Previous prize recipient, Skye Illman

Sheila Bailey worked at UniSA for over 20 years and during that time financially supported more than 30 rural students through regular workplace giving donations.

Through her role as Advancement Executive (Alumni), Sheila saw first-hand the huge difference that scholarships, grants and prizes make to students, and was inspired to help rural students who needed extra support.

She was one of the first at UniSA to set up regular workplace giving donations and the cumulative effect of her gifts allowed her to establish the Sheila Bailey Early Childhood Prize in 2008. As well as the initial Sheila Bailey Early Childhood Prize, there is the Sheila Bailey Nursing and Midwifery Prize (in honour of her late mum who was a nurse), the Sheila Bailey Physiotherapy

St Andrew's Hospital Nursing Experiential Learning Grant

Previous grant recipient, Taylor Huxtable

Simply put, 'experiential learning' is learning through experience. For nursing students, this is an essential part of their university education. However, it often comes at a cost. Nursing students have several placements of long duration in the third year of their degree, which may require them to travel long distances and to stay in different locations or may prevent them from working part-time.

St Andrew's Hospital understands the demands nurses face both as students and as professionals. These grants are designed to take the financial concerns out of the professional placement process, so the student is better equipped with the knowledge and experience to one day practise in their chosen field.

St Andrew's Hospital has provided medical and surgical excellence to South Australians for more than 80 years and is now Australia's largest standalone independent private hospital and is recognised nationally as a centre of excellence.

The Hospital is a long-time supporter of the University of South Australia and its students, offering scholarships and grants since 2002. Many of the University's nursing students go to St Andrew's for their professional placement.

"You have chosen a career in a truly wonderful profession. I would encourage you to go out there and make a difference."

Mr Stephen Walker, CEO, St Andrew's Hospital

The grant is designed to encourage research students to undertake 'hands on' research through experimental work and recognises early-career researchers and the value of applying proper scientific method to their research.

The grant supports the recipient's costs of experimental research data collection and analysis.

“We believe that the provision of scholarships and prizes to students gives the extra encouragement sometimes needed to push learning and research into application. We established the Gould Experimental Science Grant to provide more than just funding. We wanted to offer students the opportunity to forge a career in their area of passion, and thus make a difference for future generations by creating new data and information through experimentation.”

Norton Jackson Material Science and Engineering Medal

The Norton Jackson Material Science and Engineering Medal was established in 2011 by the late Dr Norton Jackson AM.

Following a long and distinguished career in the mining and metallurgy industry, Norton spent the final 30 years of his life helping direct the growth and prosperity of more than a dozen mining, fertilizer and chemical companies, through board memberships and directorships.

Norton's qualifications included Diplomas in Applied Science and Mining from the South Australian School of Mines (a founding institution of the University of South Australia).

In his 70s, Norton reconnected with the University of South Australia, becoming a dear friend and supporter. He was a Member of the University's Council from 1995 to 1998. He was made a Fellow of the University of South Australia in 1999 and awarded an Honorary Doctorate in 2006.

The medal is awarded annually to a PhD graduate or graduand from the University of South Australia who has demonstrated the most potential or real application of research in industry.

"I was extremely fortunate to receive a scholarship to attend the School of Mines and Industry, an antecedent of the University of South Australia. I later went on to complete a Bachelor of Engineering in Metallurgy and was awarded the prestigious Klug Medal for the 'top metallurgist of the year'. This award had a powerful influence on my career and is something I would like to replicate for other graduates to aspire to."

Before becoming one of UniSA's long-serving and highly respected staff members, he was a young high school graduate living in regional South Australia facing the financial barriers.

Yangadlitya Aboriginal Postgraduate Scholarship

A commitment to Aboriginal education and support of Aboriginal leaders in the community is a key element in both the founding legislation and ongoing activities of the University of South Australia.

The Yangadlitya Aboriginal Postgraduate Scholarship was established in 1994 to advance the education of Aboriginal postgraduate students. The grants were made possible through a Deed of Gift from the Aborigines Advancement League to the University of South Australia and Flinders University.

In addition to the grants, the gift established the biennial Duguid Memorial Lecture, held in honour of Dr Charles Duguid OBE and Mrs Phyllis Duguid OAM. Dr Duguid and his wife attracted national and international headlines in the 1930s due to their tireless campaigning for the rights of Aboriginal people.

Charles Duguid also founded the South Australian Aborigines Advancement League in 1939 and presided over it for many years. The League initially worked to establish and maintain a hostel for young Aboriginal people coming to Adelaide to gain an education. It also campaigned for legislative reforms and fairer work policies for Aboriginal people and hosted the inaugural meeting of the Federal Council for Aboriginal Advancement in 1958.

Gladys Elphick Memorial Scholarship

In 2005 an anonymous donor provided a substantial bequest to the University of South Australia to establish the Gladys Elphick Memorial Scholarship – to support Aboriginal students undertaking studies within the School of Health Sciences.

Gladys Elphick MBE was a highly respected member of the local Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander community in South Australia, better known to the Aboriginal community as 'Auntie Glad'.

A Kurna woman, Gladys Elphick was brought up on the Point Pearce Reserve. Her lifelong work against discrimination and exploitation of Aboriginal people included the formation of the Aboriginal Women's Council, a legal aid service and the Aboriginal Community Centre in Adelaide.

She also helped to establish the first Aboriginal community-controlled health service in the Adelaide region, which continues today in the form of Nunkuwarrin Yunti of SA Inc.

Gladys was appointed a Member of the Order of the British Empire in 1971 for services to the Aboriginal Community. In 1984 she was named South Australian Aboriginal of the Year.

He specialised in Sport and Exercise medicine, is a Senior Clinical Lecturer at the University of Adelaide Medical School and is an Emeritus Physician (Exercise and Sports medicine) in the Department of Orthopaedics and Trauma at the Royal Adelaide Hospital.

The Dr Terry Farquharson Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Science Scholarship provides encouragement and support for pharmacy and pharmaceutical science students from an international background.

“Life is about taking one’s opportunities. My parents gave me an opportunity to be educated and I was lucky enough to win a Commonwealth Scholarship to study Pharmacy at the then South Australian Institute of Technology (now UniSA). That was over 50 years ago now and I have had a fulfilling career in Pharmacy and Medicine. Many capable young people may not get such an opportunity, and as I believe education is the greatest gift that you can give, I hope providing a scholarship will help at least a few achieve their ambitions.”

He was also an Associate Professor and Lecturer in social work at the University of South Australia from 1987 to 2000.

Ian Cox was instrumental in a comprehensive reform of juvenile justice and made a significant contribution to the South Australian community through the government's program of support for those experiencing disadvantage. He also pioneered new ways of working with the families of children with disabilities, advocating for the rights of parents to their own information and to have their voices heard in professional discussions about their children.

The scholarship aims to encourage research that supports the Department's purpose of caring for and protecting at risk children and young people.

The Department for Child Protection (DCP) generously provides $10,000 a year for the scholarship, and the University pays the recipient's fees in the year they receive the scholarship.

Irene and David Davy Scholarship for Advancement of Aboriginal Education

Established in 2000, the Irene and David Davy Scholarship for Advancement of Aboriginal Education is open to Aboriginal students in the final year of an undergraduate program or an Honours year. The scholarship came about through a bequest by Irene and David Davy, two South Australians whose own limited formal education never stopped them from encouraging others to follow their academic goals.

Irene and David Davy were people who planned for the future – they were practical, hardworking and determined to make the most of the opportunities presented to them. They believed support and encouragement, combined with access to education, could change the lives of young people, increasing their opportunities, confidence and self-esteem.

David's niece, Margaret Davy AM studied medicine at a time when very few women entered the course, and even less came from working class families. They were proud of her achievements, giving unstinting praise. Irene's niece, Judy Moffatt was supported in her dream to become a nurse and was the first Aboriginal nurse to graduate from Lyell McEwin Hospital. Two other sisters, Sharon and Kerry also graduated from the Lyell McEwin. All nieces have achieved in their chosen professions and become role models and are grateful for the emotional support and encouragement from their aunt and uncle.

Through the development of the scholarship, members of the Davy family have successfully continued Irene and David's legacy.

Gavin Wanganeen Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Scholarships

Brownlow Medallist, premiership player, five-time All-Australian, Port Power Best and Fairest, and first Indigenous AFL Life Member, Gavin Wanganeen was a brilliant AFL player, who is genuinely admired by all who love the game. More than that, he has become a role model for Aboriginal youth throughout the country, something he takes very seriously. That is why Gavin lent his patronage and encouragement to a scholarship set up by the University of South Australia to help Aboriginal students achieve their higher education goals.

Since its establishment in 2004, over 50 students have benefited from this life-changing initiative. The University would like to thank the 600 individuals and organisations who have generously donated money for this scholarship.

We are delighted that we have been able to offer additional scholarships to final year students since 2013 thanks to the generosity of the Department of Innovation and Skills.

The Gavin Wanganeen Scholarship program received a further boost in 2020 with the addition of two new scholarships offered by Haigh's Chocolates and an anonymous private donor.

“Football has given me some wonderful opportunities in my life, a strong sense of achievement and an understanding that role models can make a difference to people’s lives. I believe Aboriginal kids need a range of role models – some in sport but also, teachers, business leaders, nurses, researchers and others. The Gavin Wanganeen Aboriginal Scholarship aims to assist more Aboriginal students to attend university so they can contribute by becoming leaders in Australia and good examples for Aboriginal children across the country.”

Goodes O'Loughlin UniSA GO Scholarship

In 2016, the University received a generous donation from the Government of South Australia to provide a scholarship supporting high-achieving Aboriginal students enrolled in a health or fitness-related undergraduate degree program. The State Government donation funds a Goodes O'Loughlin UniSA GO Scholarship every year in perpetuity.

The GO Foundation was founded by Adam Goodes and Michael O'Loughlin and creates educational opportunities for Aboriginal youth through a strong network of collaboration with corporate Australia, schools, universities and other partners.

The recipients of this prestigious award have the opportunity to engage with the GO Foundation and receive a range of mentoring, networking and career development opportunities.

“The GO Foundation wants to see more and more Indigenous students at universities throughout Australia. We are thrilled to partner with UniSA, one of Australia’s leading universities, to provide these opportunities in Adelaide.”

Adam Goodes

“Adam and I both grew up in Adelaide so we are both so pleased that we can offer a GO scholarship at UniSA. South Australia gave us the opportunities that led us to where we are today so it’s great we can give back in some small way.”

Michael O'Loughlin

George Alexander Foundation UniSA Regional Scholarship

George Alexander AM was a man of vision and generosity. His life story is a tale of achievement in the face of adversity and it exemplifies the ethos that has helped build modern Australia.

After migrating from England to Australia alone at the age of fifteen, George worked as a farmhand in rural Victoria and experienced firsthand the difficulties of drought and the Great Depression.

George was 27 years old when he achieved his first formal qualification. He went on to become a lifelong learner, studying and teaching mechanics and engineering, foremanship and management. Later he became a successful inventor and in 1972, set up an independent philanthropic foundation as a way of sharing his wealth and giving back to the community.

George was inspired to help others by his own experiences of hardship and talked of 'planting seeds and hoping that they grow into pretty big trees'; a concept that underscores the Foundations philanthropy to this day.

The main focus of The George Alexander Foundation is supporting promising young people, particularly those from rural and remote areas, to access education.

The George Alexander Foundation UniSA Regional Scholarship was awarded for the first time in 2021. It is available to commencing full-time students from regional Australia to assist them with the costs of relocating to Adelaide and pursuing their goals of a university education. The scholarship is a prestigious award, recognising talented students who demonstrate strong academic achievement, display active community involvement and leadership potential.

Resthaven Undergraduate Scholarships

Established in 1935, Resthaven is an aged care community service associated with the Uniting Church in South Australia.

Each year, Resthaven shares the lives and wisdom of more than 10,000 older people and their carers, supporting them with high quality, responsive community and residential aged care services.

As a major and valued donor to the University since 2010, Resthaven supports a suite of scholarships and grants in order to give back to the South Australian community.

Resthaven scholarships deliver lasting benefits by affirming the importance of working in the aged care sector and raising awareness of aged care as a career path for graduating nurses and allied health professionals. The scholarships support our students to become leading professionals who deliver quality care to older people – now and in the future.

“Resthaven considers our investment in the scholarships an important contribution to the Australian community. We are committed to supporting the development of highly skilled aged care nursing and allied health practitioners. Aged care represents an exciting growth industry for graduates who aspire to be leaders of the future.”

Don Hawke Memorial Scholarship

Tom Pearce, his late wife Jean, and children Susan, Erica and Andrew, are highly valued donors to the University of South Australia.

The Pearce family established the Don Hawke Memorial Scholarship in honour and memory of Jean's late brother who, through circumstance, was never able to attend university despite his aspirations.

The scholarship is awarded to commencing students from a financially disadvantaged and rural or isolated background in South Australia, with the aim to support young people who have completed a senior secondary qualification within the last two years and who have gained life experience outside of school. The scholarship was established to cover living and study costs for the duration of the recipient's study.

Since Jean's passing in 2009, the Pearce family have continued to support a wide range of causes including the arts, education, health, the environment and overseas development.

"We believe in sharing and we get much more joy out of giving than we could have ever imagined."

He is a director of ASX listed companies Bendigo & Adelaide Bank Ltd and Ingenia Communities Group (Chair). He is Chair of the Adelaide Festival Centre Trust and sits on the boards of Coopers Brewery Ltd and COTA Australia.

William T Southcott Scholarship

The William T Southcott Scholarship was established as a result of a generous bequest from Mr William T Southcott.

The scholarship is awarded to outstanding students to undertake a PhD in the field of practical engineering at the University of South Australia.

William was a prominent Adelaide businessman with interests in the Southcott family business and other enterprises. An engineer himself, William saw the need for continual advancement in the manufacturing industry.

In 1998, William contacted the University of South Australia to plan a scholarship that would encourage outstanding postgraduate students to continue their research and provide an incentive to make a significant contribution to their field. When the bequest was realised, the William T Southcott Scholarship was established, and the inaugural scholarship was awarded in 2006.

The scholarship is a prestigious award, and the recipients have an outstanding academic record as well as leadership potential and personal attributes suitable for the award.

Southcott Undergraduate Engineering Scholarship

The Southcott Undergraduate Engineering Scholarship, established by Southcott Pty Ltd is being awarded for the first time. This scholarship is available to commencing and continuing engineering students studying full-time in an engineering undergraduate program at the University of South Australia.

With more than a century of manufacturing and engineering experience, the Southcott company has evolved to become an industry specialist in the design, manufacture and supply of hydraulic machinery and components, serving a national and international client base.

The scholarship is a prestigious award, recognising students who demonstrate sound academic achievement, leadership skills and/or potential, and have a passion for engineering with clear career objectives.

The recipient also receives the opportunity to engage with the company to gain valuable work and practical experience.

Sir William Tyree Engineering Scholarship

The inaugural Sir William Tyree Engineering Scholarship has been established in honour of the Tyree Group's founder, Sir William Tyree OBE.

Sir William was a trailblazer in Australian engineering and manufacturing who transformed the modern industry landscape and had a pronounced belief in education as an investment in Australia's future.

He was the founder of the Tyree Group of companies and a leading Australian industrialist. Upon his passing in 2013, Sir William left an enduring legacy through his foundation and business interests to support engineering education and research.

The Tyree Foundation has a dedicated commitment to supporting engineers of the future, and this prestigious scholarship assists commencing students from regional or rural backgrounds to pursue their dream of obtaining a UniSA engineering qualification.

Pank Family Scholarships and Grants

Since 1996 the Pank family's generous contributions to the University of South Australia have helped hundreds of UniSA students gain a tertiary education.

Dr David Pank AM was an optometrist who later became Director, Managing Director and Chairman of Laubman and Pank. He was a significant contributor to the business community in South Australia and played a critical role in establishing the South Australian College of Advanced Education, the University of South Australia's largest founding institution. In recognition of David Pank's commitment to higher education and the University of South Australia, he was awarded an Honorary Doctorate in 1995.

Dr Pank established the Pank/University of South Australia Prize for Social Innovation and Enterprise in 2003 and his wife, Margaret, later founded the Margaret E Pank Nursing Scholarship.

Dr Pank passed away in January 2004, and Mrs Pank in September 2007. Since that time, their four children have continued the family's legacy to help make tertiary education more accessible to young South Australians. The Pank family scholarship program now encompasses 11 schemes that together recognise and reward around 25 students each year.
